

The FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections.

Our evening hours at home, particularly at dinner time, have been more enjoyable since signing up for the privacy list. We used to receive numerous calls in the evening and now those call are vary rare.

I used to come home from work with anywhere from 5 to 10 calls that were on my caller ID from solicitors, now maybe I get 2 on a bad day, mostly none.

I feel it is our right to have our family time at home without the interruptions of solicitation.
